The four ways to look for information in NMCRL Web are described in their dedicated video tutorials:

Thank you for using the NMCRL Web, and by that, supporting NATO and its Allies armed forces.

This guide describes one option to search in the NATO approved items database:

An alternative to Global Search exists if you already know what you are looking for:

Categorized search can be used:

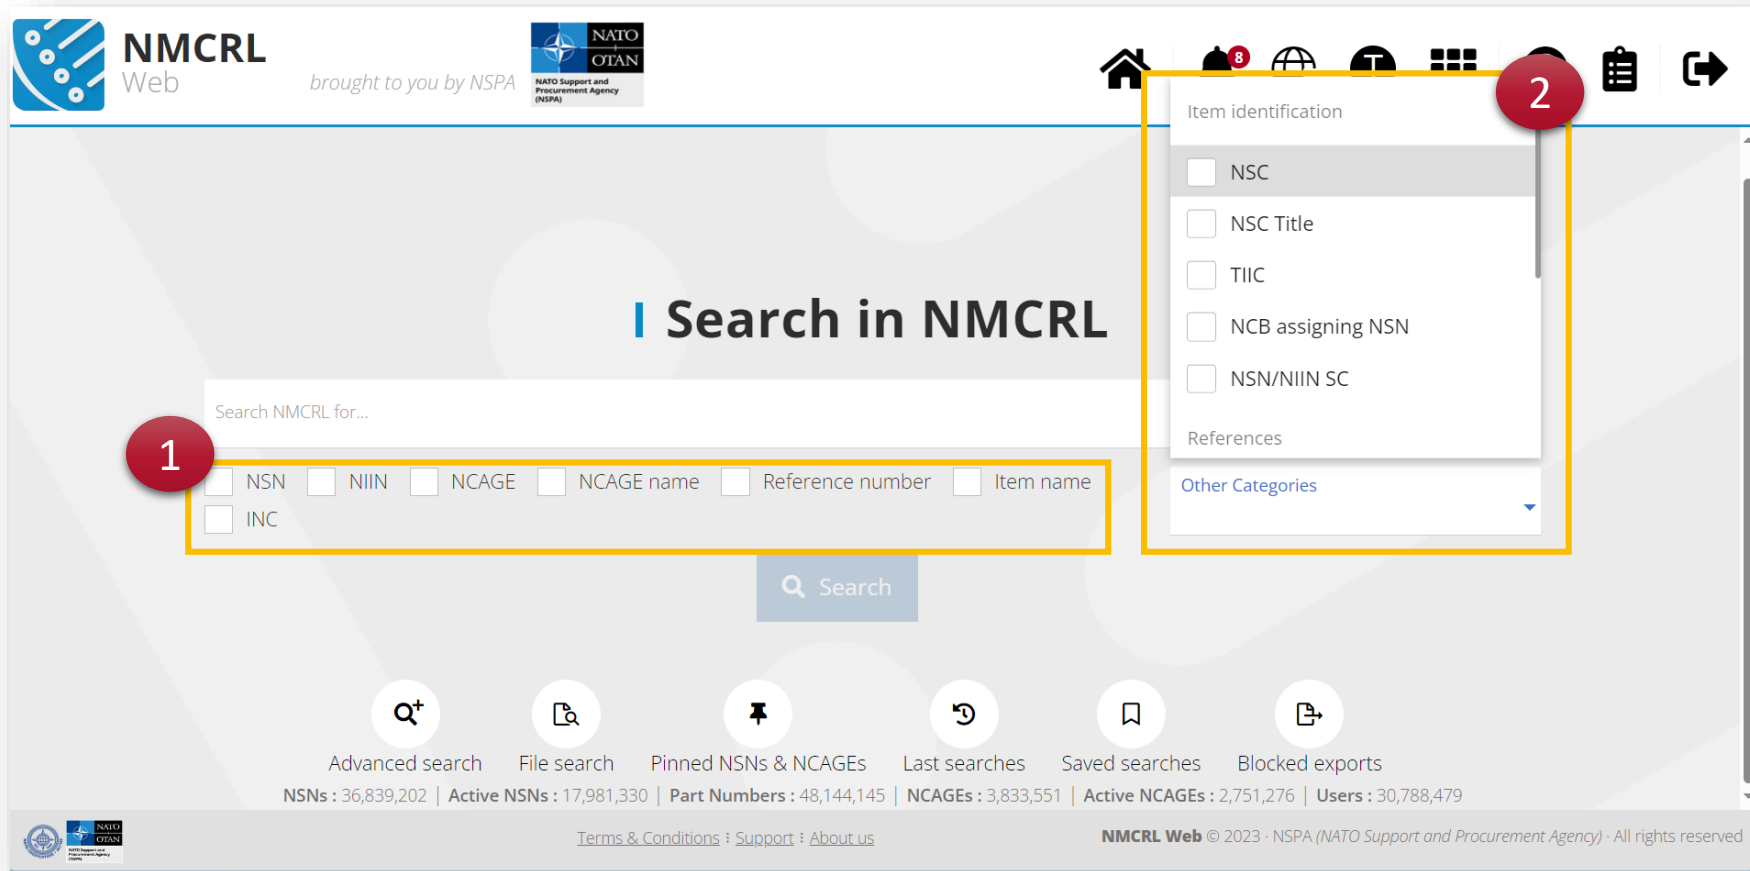

1. From the search/home page

NSN	Item name	Status	TIIC
2590-14-426-2866	FILLER NECK,VEHICULAR COMPONENTS		2 - Reference Item Identifica
1730-01-191-9329	UNKNOWN		2 - Reference Item Identifica

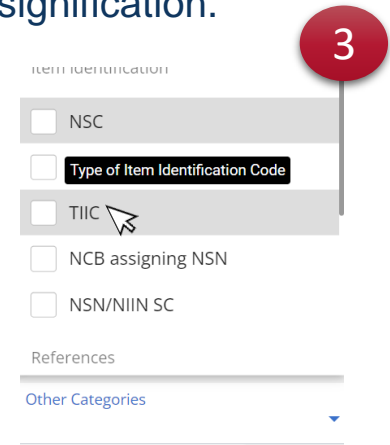

2. It is also available from the search bar when you are on a results screen.

1. From the basic home page, you may directly tick one of the suggested categories.
2. Clicking on “categories” will roll out a full list of all the categories you may use to refine your search. First: information about the NSN data such as the NSN, the classification, the item name or status code for instance.

Second, information related to References such as the NCAGE or the Reference number; and finally, the user information.

Don't forget that if the acronyms look scary to you, you just have to hover your mouse over it to get their signification.

- When you use the categorized fields on your result page, the NMCRL Web will highlight the relevant matches. For instance, if we indicate to the system that this is an NSN that we are looking for, then it will highlight the exact matches in the NSN category.
